Maintain
Mend
Modify

This month I have again been asked to chat about modifications, maintaining and mending hardware. If you have a problem with any of your equipment, bring it along to this meeting and as long as it is relatively minor problem, I or one of our other experts will either put it right for you or at least give you effective advice. If you decide to take us up on this offer, it would help if you telephoned me with the details beforehand so we are prepared.

As you will see from our inside pages, the long awaited Crawley Club exhibition day is upon us. If you are contemplating going I suggest you get a move on and arrange for tickets, they are limited. By the time you get this newsletter they will have been on sale for a couple of weeks so you should telephone John Moon who is the treasurer of Crawley's club and reserve a ticket if there are any left.

John Moon's telephone number is:- 01403 253819

We will probably find ourselves a bit thin on the ground for manning the two tables with our exhibits. Anyone attending and prepared to stand in for one of the long suffering committee members will be very welcome.

This meeting promises to be most informative; we do urge our members to attend if at all possible.

David Lalieu.

CRAWLEY PCW DAY

In 1994 Microdesigners travelled from around the country to enjoy a fascinating MD Day organised by the Crawley PCW Club. Creative Technology, Crazy Diamond, Crossword Maker, DGC Software and ArtMonk Design were among the companies taking part.

Now, in May 1999, Crawley is planning a one day PCW extravaganza. A chance to learn what's new, how to solve that technical problem or make the latest program work.

For ticket and final programme details watch the PCW press, keep in touch with your local PCW Club or, after Easter, contact John Moon

☎ 01403 253819

Fax 01403 249315

MEET: The movers and shakers from the PCW world. The British Amstrad PCW Club, producers of 'The Disc Drive'. Adrian Braddy, Editor of 'PCW Today'. Doug Cox and the MDIUG team. John Elliott. John Craggs, creator of 'Writer's Desk', the invaluable guide to making your writing pay.

The companies still serving the PCW.

FIND OUT ABOUT: Using the latest Loco-Script programs, getting the best from the PcW16, and how to keep your PCW working.
